Minute Man Monument

The Minute Man Monument, located at the intersection of South Main Street and Orange Road, was erected by the Culpeper Minute Man Chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution in 1933. The Minute Men were organized under after the Continental Congress of 1775 divided Virginia into 16 districts and ordered each to raise and discipline a battalion of men "to march at a minute's notice." Their first battle was at "Great Bridge" in 1775 — the first Revolutionary battle on Virginia soil.
